Real Estate Agents: Want to Reach the Closing Table More Often?
Be the Only One from Your Market at Mr. Mission Possible's
Peer Mentoring Group in Fort Worth, TX on May 26, 2009

April 14, 2009 – Fort Worth, TX – No real estate agent needs to be told that the market has changed radically over the past year and a half. Or that only those who successfully adapt to the new landscape will end up dominating the coming market, while the rest shrink or shutter.

But when you're in "uncharted territory" as we are today, how do you learn the techniques and strategies that make that difference? The ideal would be to have access to what's actually working on the ground for other top performing real estate agents. And as it turns out, one method of training makes this ideal possible.

It's called peer benchmarking review, and it provides direct access to proven industry-specific advantages for a single player within a market.

"There are no theories here," explains facilitator and successful serial entrepreneur Ron Sturgeon. "No one's peddling ideas from their academic paper or flogging a book. It's simple, but incredibly powerful – share what's working, what's making money, what's cutting costs, what's getting profitable clients in the door." Of course, this is only possible in an exclusive environment, where just one player from any market is allowed access.

"The problem with conferences, seminars, books, and other traditional training is that you're on the same page with the competition," advises Ron Sturgeon, entrepreneur and small business consultant with Mr. Mission Possible. "In this environment, what's required is a unique competitive advantage, and peer benchmarking review groups provide that."

Proven in sectors as varied as auto salvage and Internet applications, peer benchmarking takes the risk out of innovation. "You don't have to guess, you don't have to gamble, you don't have to wonder if it's going to work," Sturgeon observes, "because it's already working. You know you're getting information that equates to closed transactions and market share, plain and simple."

In fact, it works so well that participants secure a "500% Guarantee" – if participants don't hear ideas which earn at least five times the cost of attendance, the $750.00 registration fee is refunded in full. Proven results, one agent per market, and an iron-clad guarantee of results – it all adds up to a unique opportunity, but one with a very short window.
